How To Choose a Wall Panel?

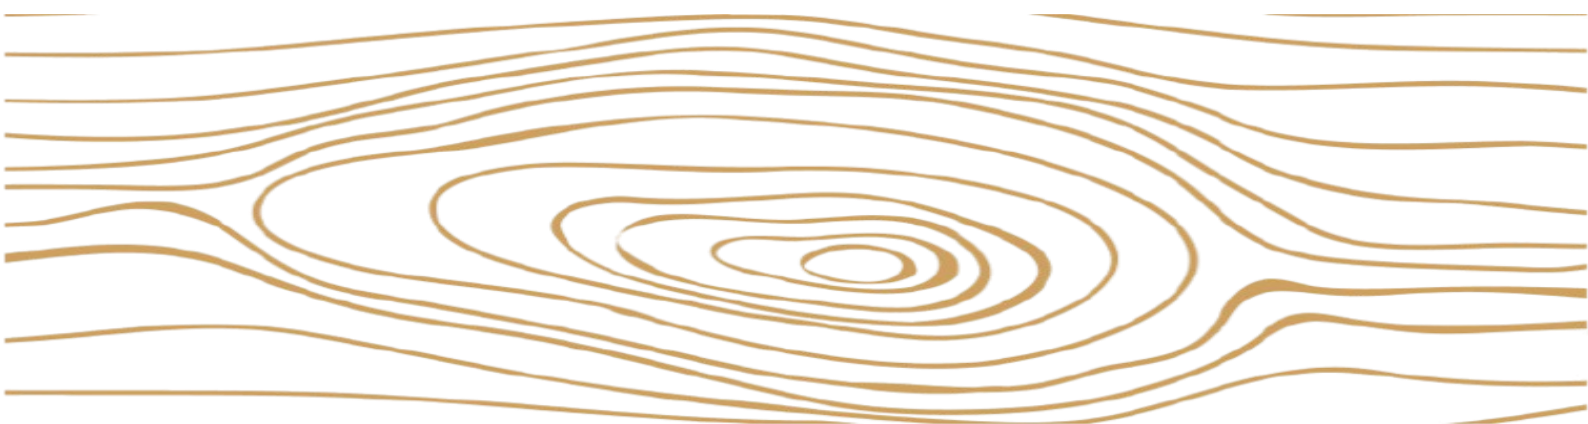

Selecting a design might seem overwhelming, but with us it isn't.

- Also do consider the tones of your furniture and walls for making a perfect

Lacquer or Oil finish?

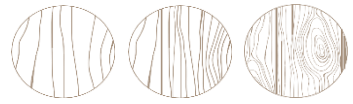

In general, lacquered surface reflects the light more than an oiled one, while matt finish is its opposite.
